What a joy to be able to paddle, raft and fish on this river as it flows through our communities.

Huge thanks to the Spokane Conservation District (SCD) for recently taking most of these photos with their drone. Since the Forum founded the water trail in 2010 with partners, we've led development and restoration of 14 access points. SCD's been a key partner from the beginning.

"Little wonder," said Forum Executive Director Andy Dunau, "that now thousands are getting out and enjoying the river every year. To learn more about launches, safety and river flows and resources, visit www.spokanewatertrail.org.

Spokane River recreation access reopens

The Spokane River is officially available for enthusiasts as part of Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife, Department of Natural Resources and State Parks reopening many trails and recreational fishing opportunities on May 5th.

For the Spokane River, please remember:

- It's spring with the river running fast and cold. Only confident paddlers and rafters should be on the water.
- Fishing season doesn't open until June 1. Check the WDFW fishing pamphlet for what sections are open and other regulations.
